

HR Policy Handbook

Test Document • Version 1.0 • Effective January 1, 2026

1. Purpose

This policy defines basic workplace standards for employees, managers, and contractors. It is designed to provide clear and consistent guidance on attendance, leave, conduct, remote work, performance, and workplace concerns.

2. Working Hours & Attendance

Standard working hours are Monday through Friday, 09:00–18:00, including a one-hour lunch break. Employees are expected to be punctual and available during their agreed working hours. Repeated unexplained lateness or absence may result in corrective action.

3. Leave Policy

Employees should request planned leave through the designated HR system at least 5 business days in advance whenever possible. Sick leave should be reported to the manager as soon as reasonably possible. Leave approval is subject to operational requirements and applicable law.

4. Remote & Hybrid Work

Eligible employees may work remotely according to their team's approved schedule. Employees working remotely must maintain normal availability, attend required meetings, protect company information, and use approved devices and systems.

5. Code of Conduct

Employees must treat colleagues, customers, and business partners with professionalism and respect. Harassment, discrimination, threats, bullying, retaliation, and deliberate misuse of company resources are prohibited.

6. Information Security & Confidentiality

Employees must protect confidential business information, personal data, credentials, and company systems. Sensitive information must not be shared with unauthorized individuals or stored in unapproved services. Suspected security incidents should be reported immediately.

7. Performance & Feedback

Performance is evaluated based on role expectations, quality of work, collaboration, reliability, and progress toward agreed objectives. Managers should provide regular feedback and document significant performance concerns.

8. Workplace Concerns & Reporting

Employees may raise workplace concerns with their manager, HR, or another designated reporting channel. Reports will be handled professionally and, where appropriate, confidentially. Retaliation against a person who raises a concern in good faith is prohibited.

9. Disciplinary Action

Violations of company policies may lead to corrective or disciplinary action, depending on the nature and severity of the issue. Possible actions include coaching, written warnings, suspension, or termination, subject to applicable law and company procedures.

10. Policy Administration

HR is responsible for maintaining this policy and communicating material changes. The company may update the policy when business needs, legal requirements, or organizational practices change.
